UPDATE ON PRODUCTS CONTAINING GLUCOSAMINE

Reference is being made to products containing glucosamine. Please note that the classification of such products is currently being discussed at national and EU level. Once a position is reached it will be published on the website together with any relevant information and, if necessary, any registration requirements.

In the absence of safety concerns and provided that no medicinal claims are made regarding these products, the Medicines Authority does not object to the marketing of products containing glucosamine.

Should you have further queries please contact the Borderline Classification Committee Secretariat on email: classcomm.adm@gov.mt.
